Re: Senate Bill 270 Solid waste: single-use carryout bags (As Amended 8/21/14)

Dear Senator Padilla:

On behalf of the American Forest & Paper Association (AF&PA)<sup>i</sup>, representing an industry with more than 54,000 employees at over 480 paper manufacturing facilities in California, I am writing to express concerns about SB 270, legislation that would ban single-use plastic bags and impose a 10 cent minimum tax and postconsumer recycled content criteria on paper bags. In spite of recent amendments, we remain strongly opposed to this bill and urge you to amend this legislation to remove mandated taxes and postconsumer recycled content criteria on paper bags.

The latest amendments to SB 270 do not respond to our industry's concerns on behalf of consumers of paper products, and represent an attempt by the retail industry to provide political cover for their unprecedented request for legislative intervention against consumers with the purpose of boosting retailers' revenue. The amendments purport to limit retailers' use of tax proceeds to costs of compliance, actual costs of bags, or costs associated with educational materials encouraging reusable bags, with no enforcement or compliance mechanism to protect consumers and ensure retailer compliance with the new amendments. The cost of bags is already built into retailers' prices and, in the past, retailers have proposed to recover reconfiguration of bagging areas, warehousing, and staff training as "costs of compliance." The new amendments do nothing to protect California consumers.

This tax will be regressive, increasing the cost of basic necessities for low-income citizens who are dependent on public transit and cannot practically expect to bring reusable bags every time they go to a retailer. These consumers cannot afford to pay an additional tax on bags while they struggle to cover the increasing cost of basic necessities, and need a packaging option to protect their food purchases from damage and contamination.

Paper bags are a recyclable and sustainable packaging option, and consumers should not be forced to pay a penalty to benefit retailers. In fact, many retailers that cater specifically to environmentally-conscious consumers have already transitioned to offering only paper and reusable bags. Not only are paper bags made from recycled paper, they are highly recycled themselves and are a fixture in community recycling programs throughout the state and the rest of the country. In fact, California residents frequently use paper bags as their containers when recycling other paper products such as newspapers, magazines, envelopes, juice and milk cartons, and printer paper—all items that are accepted at the curb in the state. According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the paper bag boasts a national recycling rate of nearly 50 percent. More than 60 percent of paper consumed in the U.S. has been recovered for recycling in each of the last four years.

Paper remains the only bag option that is commonly accepted for recycling at curbside in California. It makes no sense for California to discriminate against the paper bag, a product that is convenient to recycle and has a track record of actual recovery, in favor of a new product with more limited acceptance in recycling programs and is thus more likely to end up in a landfill.

For the reasons stated above, AF&PA respectfully opposes SB 270 in its current form. We encourage you to avoid measures that penalize paper and, as always, we stand ready to assist you and offer our expertise as a resource as you continue the dialogue on this important issue.
